Methodology for calculating indicators:

The return on average equity is calculated using the method accepted in the Bank as discounted to the annual basis ratio of the net profit received in the reporting period to the average value of equity in the same period.

The return on average assets is calculated using the method accepted in the Bank as discounted to the annual basis ratio of the net profit received in the reporting period to the average value of net assets in the same reporting period.

Changes were made to the methodology on 1 January 2020. For the purposes of comparability, data for 2019 were recalculated considering these changes.

Analysis of the financial and economic performance of the issuing credit institution based on the economic analysis of the dynamics of the given indicators:

Main results of the Bank's activities for the nine months of 2020 compared to the nine months of 2019:

- Assets grew by 14.5%, or by RUB4.1 tn, to RUB32.1 tn versus 01/10/2019, mainly due to the outstanding loans and investment in financial assets carried at fair value through profit or loss and through other comprehensive income. Much of this growth is due to the positive currency revaluation owing to a significant Ruble weakening against basic currencies (since 01/10/2019, the ruble/dollar exchange rate has grown by 24%, while the ruble/euro exchange rate has added 32%).
- Liabilities of the Bank exceeded RUB27 trillion, having increased versus 01/10/2019 by 13.7%, or RUB3.3 trillion, due to funds raised from customers, mainly individual ones. The dynamics of liabilities was also driven by the Ruble weakening.
- Base capital amounted to RUB4,009 billion as at 01/10/2010, which is 20% (or RUB665 billion) more than in the previous year. The indicator mainly increased due to the audit of profit for the last three quarters of 2019. Fixed capital increased by 24%, or by RUB815 billion, from 01/10/2019 through 01/10/2020, and amounted to RUB4,159 billion as a result of including a subordinated loan of RUB150 billion in the sources of additional paid-in capital. The adequacy of base and fixed capital increased by 1.4 p.p and 1.9 p.p. for this period respectively, amounting to 12.7% and 13.2% as at 1 October 2020.

- Total capital for the indicated period increased by 10%, or RUB433 billion, amounting to RUB4,873 billion. The growth is mainly related to net profit and excluding the Bank of Russia's subordinated loan for RUB50 billion. Total capital adequacy increased by 0.5 p.p. during the year and totaled 15.4% as at 1 October 2020.
- The first half of the year was characterized by a decline in business activity, unprecedented volumes of restructuring and anti-crisis financing, the launch of a cost optimization program, and increased allocations to provisions. By the beginning of the third quarter of 2020, the economy had begun to recover gradually, which was particularly noticeable in terms of growing demand for loans from businesses and households, as well as the dynamics of transactional business. All those trends had an impact on the Bank's financial performance for the nine months of 2020. Net profit for the nine months of 2020 stood at RUB559.4 billion as compared to RUB665.4 billion a year earlier. Return on assets fell from 3.2% to 2.5%. Return on equity declined from 21.9% to 15.8% over the same period.

2.4. Risks related to Acquisition of Placed Securities (Securities to be Placed) (Bank Risks).

Basic principles for creating the risk and capital management system are defined in the Risk and Capital Management Strategy of Sberbank Group that is approved by the Supervisory Board of the Bank.

The primary goals and objectives of the risk management system are as follows:

- to ensure/maintain the acceptable risk level within the risk appetite and/or other limits and containments;
- to ensure capital adequacy for covering significant/material risks, including in case of stress conditions
- to identify and assess risk materiality, assess and forecast risk levels; set risk limits and containments; monitor and control the amount of accepted risk; take steps to reduce the level of the Group's accepted risk in order to maintain it within the set external and internal containments;
- to ensure the efficient resource allocation for optimization of the risk-return ratio of the Group;
- to ensure the uniform understanding of risks on the Group's level;
- to carry out strategic planning with due regard to the level of accepted risk.

2.4.1. Credit Risk.

Credit risk means the risk of losses associated with full or partial loss of asset value or increase in liabilities due to default or deterioration of the credit quality (migration) of a counterparty/ issuer/third party under the following instruments (including those received as security):

- a financial instrument under a counterparty transaction

- an issuer's security
- a derivative financial instrument tied to a credit event of a third party

The objective of credit risk management are:

- ensuring compliance of credit risks level of the Group to the risk appetite set within the Integrated Risk Management (and/or other limits and restrictions) and optimizing its level as part of management decisions to provide sustainable development of the Group, the Bank and other members of the Group in accordance with macroeconomic parameters and the Development Strategy of the Group approved by the Bank's Supervisory Board;
- complying the requirements of the state bodies and local regulators of the countries of the Group members' operation in terms of credit risk management;
- ensuring compliance with international standards and best banking practices in the area of credit risk management;

The Group's policy on credit risk management is aimed at:

- implementation of a systemic approach to credit risk management, optimization of the industrial, regional and product structure of the Group's, Bank's and other Members of the Group's credit portfolios, to manage the level of credit risks;
- improving competitiveness of the Group in terms of products subject to credit risks due to a better assessment of assumed credit risks and implementing measures for managing credit risks;
- preservation of stability when expanding the product line of Group members (implementing more complicated products) as a result of adequate assessment and management of accepted risks, particularly credit risks.

The Group applies the following methods of credit risk management:

- preventing credit risk by the identification, analysis, and evaluation of potential risks at the stage which precedes conducting operations exposed to credit risk;
- planning the level of credit risk by assessing the level of expected losses;
- implementing unified processes of risk evaluation and identification;
- limiting the credit risk by imposing limits and/or restrictions for the risk;
- creating provisions for possible losses from loans issued;
- structuring of transactions;
- managing the collateral for transactions;
- using the system of authorities when making decisions;
- monitoring and controlling the risk level.

Credit risk is evaluated for the Group in general and in terms of different portfolios of assets exposed to credit risk, and also in terms of individual credit risks of specific counterparties and groups of counterparties, countries, geographical regions, types of economic activities.

The Group uses a system of internal ratings based on economic and mathematical models of estimating the probability of default by counterparties. Counterparty credit risk assessment depends on the types of counterparties:

- corporate customers, credit institutions, financial companies, small business entities, countries, subjects of the Russian Federation, municipal entities, insurance and leasing companies – on the basis of the credit ratings system, as well as by building models of predicted cash flow or other important indicators;
- individuals and micro businesses – based on an assessment of counterparty solvency, an express assessment, and information from external sources available to Sberbank.

The system of credit ratings provides a differentiated assessment of probability of default/non-execution by the counterparties of their obligations by analyzing quantitative (financial) and qualitative factors of credit risk (factors of market and external influence, characteristics of management quality, assessment of business reputation and others), materiality of their impact on the ability of the counterparty to serve and repay their obligations.

In accordance with the developed macroeconomic scenarios, the Group performs analysis of sensibility of the credit risks level at the level of individual counterparties and the credit portfolio as a whole, and, according to the results, it detects the macro factors to the maximum extent correlating with the probability of counterparties' default. For the purposes of stress testing, the statistical information about rapid changes of macro factors is used when modeling the ratings in stress situations.

The system of monitoring and controlling the level of the Group's credit risks is implemented on the basis of the principles which ensure preliminary, current and further control of transactions exposed to credit risks, compliance with the established risk limits, and their timely actualization.

A multilevel system of limits for each line of business based on limiting credit risks by loan operations and operations on financial markets is developed in the Group.

The Group pays close attention to the control of concentration of major credit risks and compliance with the prudential requirements of the regulating authority, analysis and forecast of the level of credit risks. By credit risk concentration analysis, control and management the following stages are applied:

- Keeping the group of related borrowers list based on complex criteria for economic and legal relationships among borrowers
- Setting up a system of limits and warning indicators
- Controlling the provision of large loans to single borrowers or groups of related borrowers
- Controlling the industry and country risk level

The bank conducts monitoring of major credit risks and forecasting of compliance with the requirements set out by the Bank of Russia on mandatory ratios¹ and the index of risk concentration (RCI6.1):² (N6, N21 (maximum risk per borrower or group of related borrowers, bank and banking group), N7, N22 (maximum size of major credit risks, bank and banking group), N25 (the maximum risk per bank-related person (group of bank-related persons))). For these purposes, the List of Major and Related Borrowers is maintained and monitored. The Bank's largest borrowers come from various sectors of the economy; therefore, the credit risk is adequately diversified.

One of the main instruments for reducing credit risk is collateral. Several kinds of security can be taken for credit risk limitation. The need to accept collateral and the volume of accepted collateral depends on the credit risk level of the borrower/transaction and is fixed in the terms of the loan products. When granting loans, the most efficient combination of requirements to the borrower's creditworthiness level and to collateral used, which significantly increases the efficiency of loan workflow.

In order to hedge credit risks, a Collateral Policy defining the basic principles and elements of organizing the work with funded and unfunded collateral has been developed and implemented. The Collateral Policy is aimed at the creation of such approaches to working with collateral that allows to reduce credit risks, maintain the required quality level of the credit portfolio in terms of collateral, drive an increase in the level of return of bad debts. The quality of the collateral is determined by the degree of credit risk protection provided by it and the probability of obtaining funds in the amount of the estimated collateral value upon foreclosing on the subject of the collateral or its sale. The quality of the collateral is indirectly characterized by the list and materiality of the risks associated with the collateral and is determined by a number of factors: liquidity, reliability of the assessment of value, risks of impairment, exposure to risks of loss and damage, risks caused by legal reasons, and others. In general, liquid and reliable collateral is preferred in lending.

Collateral value is appraised based on an internal expert appraisal, an appraisal by independent appraisers, or, when it is impossible / inexpedient to determine the market value, based on the value of the collateral item in the borrower's accounting reporting or other nominal value with discount applied. The use of surety by solvent legal entities and individuals and guarantee for the adjustment of credit risk indicators requires the same risk assessment of the surety/guarantor as the borrower. Throughout the validity period of the credit product, pledged assets are regularly monitored to ensure control over quantitative, qualitative and cost parameters of the collateral items, their legal affiliation, and conditions of storage and upkeep.

The Group has a multidimensional system of authorities allowing the determination of the level of decision-making for every loan application. Each collegial body of regional business units and subsidiaries (unless otherwise set out in the IRD) is assigned a risk profile that determines the powers of such collegial body to make independent decisions to approve credit products and FMT deals depending on the limit position for the borrower/group of related borrowers, counterparty rating, and non-standard Transaction parameters. Thus, the existing systems of limits and authorities allow to optimize the credit process and to manage credit risk adequately.

2.4.2. Country Risk

Country risk means the risk of losses associated with a particular country's sovereign counterparties being unable or unwilling, or with that country's other counterparties or counterparties in ultimate risk operations within that country (if the sources for the repayment of the counterparty obligations originate from that country) being unable to perform their obligations for reasons depending on the country government decisions rather than on the counterparty. Country risk includes a transfer component related to the risk that the counterparty will not perform its obligations in a currency different from the national currency of the country for which the country risk has been identified (except for the Russian Federation), for reasons depending on the country government rather than on the counterparty.

In order to limit and manage country risks accepted by the Group, the Bank has a system of country risk limits in place. These limits restrict the aggregate concentration of transactions that carry country risk across the Bank as a whole, as well as for individual countries.

2.4.3. Market Risk.

For the purposes of recording and managing market risk, the Group highlights the following risks:

- market risk of the trading book;
- interest rate risk of the banking book;
- currency risk of the banking book;
- market credit spread risk of the banking book;
- commodity risk of the banking book;
- stock market risk of the banking book (being the market risk of transactions in financial markets);
- debt securities' liquidity risk of the banking book.

Market risk is managed in accordance with the adopted group policies on each risk type.

2.4.3.1. Market Risk of the Trading Book

Control over market risk of the trading book is carried out by business units organizationally independent from business units entering into transactions in financial markets. The process of risk monitoring involves continuous monitoring of trading transactions at all stages of the operating process.

Management of market risks of the trading book is performed in the Group through the system of authorized bodies making decisions depending on the risk level and portfolio hierarchy. Such system allows for the speed and flexibility of the decisions taken.

Market risks in the trading book are managed on a portfolio basis.. The main market risk management tool is setting market risk limits for separate portfolios. The portfolio consists of transactions in financial markets with common characteristics such as acceptable risks, currency, types of instruments, constraints used, and so on. The limits of market risk in the trading books are set in accordance with the requirements of the Bank of Russia, the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision and the best market risks management banking practices.

Value at risk (VaR) is used as the main metric for the valuation of market risk of the trading book. This metric is an estimate of the maximum portfolio loss for a given time period with a specified probability (level of trust) in the "normal" market. The "normal" market is characterized by the dynamics of market forces (currency quotes/shares/goods, interest rates) in the absence of a systemic crisis in the economy/banking sector of a country or a group of countries, or negative facts/events capable of causing a significant change in market forces and, as a result, the value of positions in financial instruments.

The VaR calculation is based on the following assumptions:

- the range of historical data used for the calculation is 2 years;
- VaR is calculated for a period of 10 working days, during which, on average, it is possible to close (or hedge) items that are exposed to market risk;
- the 99% one-way confidence level is used, which means that the amount of loss exceeding VaR is expected for one of the 100 periods.

The VaR metric at the level of each portfolio is subject to a regular backtesting process in accordance with a formal procedure designed to meet the requirements of the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision.

Although VaR allows for obtaining a risk assessment, one should also consider the drawbacks of this method, such as:

- the use of past price changes does not allow for a full assessment of possible future price fluctuations;
- the calculation for the 10-day period implies that it is possible to close (or hedge) all Group positions within the given time period. This assessment may be far from accurate in measuring risk exposure at the time of reduced market liquidity, when the period of closing (or hedging) the positions may increase;
- using a 99% one-way confidence level of probability does not provide for estimating losses with a probability below 1%;
- the VaR calculation is based on positions at market risk at the end of the day and may not reflect the risk accepted during the day.

Taking into account the shortcomings of the VaR method, in order to receive more detailed information on the market risk exposure, the Group extends its VaR calculation with market risk assessments using scenario analysis and stress testing.

2.4.3.2. Market risk of the banking book

Interest rate and currency risks in the banking book

The banking book interest rate risk is a risk of losses, decrease in profit, capital or capital adequacy due to an adverse change in interest rates of financial instruments in the banking book and/or market interest rates influencing the value of the banking book financial instruments.

Currency risk of the banking book is the risk of financial losses, decrease in capital or capital adequacy as a result of changes in foreign exchange rates and precious metal prices in the banking book positions.

The main sources of currency risk of the banking book are:

- transactions for creation and recovery of provisions for outstanding loans in foreign currency;
- transactions for restructuring of loans in terms of changes in the currency of debt;
- other income and expenses in foreign currency.

The key purposes of management of interest rate and currency risks of the banking book are as follows:

- limit possible financial losses and ensure financial stability of the Group;
- fulfillment of regulatory requirements established by the Bank of Russia and local regulators;
- risk containment by assessing Risk Appetite;
- maintaining the risk level within the established Risk Appetite.

To assess the interest and currency risks in the banking book, the Group mainly uses the following metrics:

- change in the net interest income with the given change in interest rates (parallel or nonparallel shift of the interest rate curve) over a given time horizon. Change in the net interest income is used to assess the impact of interest rate risk on the financial result of the Bank and Group in short-term (up to one year) and mid-term perspective (usually up to 3 years);
- change in fair value of the banking book instruments carried at current present fair value with the given change in market interest rates;
- change in the economic value of capital with a specified change in interest rates;
- regulatory OFXP reflects the structure of open items broken down by individual currencies for the Group and Group members, which is calculated as per the requirements of the Bank of Russia;
- economic OFXP reflects the sensitivity of the financial result to changes in foreign exchange rates and prices for precious metals.

As part of managing the interest rate risk of the banking book, the Group's business plan sets a target position for interest rate risk in Rubles across the bank. The Bank continuously monitors the level of interest rate risk in the banking book, controls compliance with limits, and analyzes the dynamics of interest rate risk indicators.

To limit currency risks for the business units of the Bank and individual subsidiaries in the Group, limits on the open foreign exchange position are established and controlled.

Credit spread risk of the banking book

The risk of a market credit spread of the banking book (RMCSBB) is the risk of losses or a decrease in capital due to a fall in market prices of debt securities of the banking book as a result of an adverse change in market credit spreads, except for investments being an equivalent of lending³.

Sberbank built a management system for the CSRBB and introduced appropriate control and management procedures for this type of risk.

The objectives of CSRBB are ensuring financial stability, limiting possible financial losses and negative impacts of the risk on Sberbank.

The tasks of the CSRBB management are as follows:

- to implement a systemic approach towards CSRBB management;
- to provide complete and reliable information in a timely manner to the Bank's management and members of the Group, which is required to make sound management decisions in CSRBB management;
- maximizing the profit of the Bank and the Group members while maintaining an acceptable level of the CSRBB.

To assess CSRBB, the Value-at-Risk metric (VaR) is used, which is an estimate of the maximum loss in the fair value of financial instruments⁴ as a result of changes in market credit spreads over a given period of time with a given probability (confidence level). To assess VaR for RCSBB, the Monte Carlo method is used.

2.4.4. Liquidity Risk.

The purpose of the Group liquidity risk management is to ensure that the Bank and Group members are able to fulfil in an unconditional and timely manner all and any of their obligations to customers and counterparties, both in regular operations mode and in crisis situations provided the compliance with liquidity risk management requirements of the Bank of Russia and those of local regulators in the countries of Group members' operation.

The Group is exposed to the liquidity risk because it does not accumulate funds in case of one-time fulfillment of all existing obligations. Instead, on the basis of the current market environment, assumptions about the future evolution of the balance sheet items and accumulated historical data, an assessment of an adequate level of cash and cash equivalents and liquidity reserves needed to perform these obligations on different time horizons is performed.

Liquidity risk means a risk reflecting the inability to finance activities, i.e. to ensure the growth of assets and/or perform obligations as they become due, or the violation of regulators' requirements relating to liquidity risk. The following components of liquidity risk are identified in liquidity risk management:

- physical liquidity risk is a risk of a failure by the Bank/ the Group member to meet its obligations to customers and counterparties in any currency or precious metal because of a shortage of cash or noncash funds (inability to make a payment, disburse a loan, etc.)
- regulatory liquidity risk is the risk of a failure to comply with the statutory liquidity ratios of the Bank of Russia (N2, N3, N4, N26, N28 and others⁵), as well as with statutory liquidity ratios established by local regulators in the countries of the Group members' operation.
- structural liquidity risk (concentration risk) is the risk of a significant deterioration of physical or regulatory liquidity due to an imbalance in the asset and liability structure, including a strong dependence of the Bank's/ the Group member's liability base on one or few customers or funding sources in a certain currency or with a certain maturity term, or, if necessary, on other parameters (such as, economy sector, geographical zone, type of instrument, etc).

Liquidity risk is evaluated by calculating values of liquidity risk metrics and the degree of their compliance with the established limits, warning indicators and other restrictions. Liquidity risk

³For the purposes of this description, investments being an equivalent of lending mean debt securities bought for holding to obtain contractual cash flows and involving only repayment of principal debt and interest over the period of funds use

⁴ In accordance with the internal regulatory documents on risk management of Sberbank Group

⁵ In case that any other liquidity ratios are set as statutory ratios for the Bank/ the Group Member is assessed on an aggregated basis across all operations of the Bank/Group members/ the Group as a whole.

The liquidity risk is managed in the Group through establishment of the procedures to manage this type of risk, which are applied on an ongoing basis. No capital requirements are imposed for liquidity risk.

The key tool of liquidity risk containment is the system of limits and warning indicators of liquidity risk metrics. To ensure an acceptable liquidity risk level, the Group has a limit hierarchy in place, where the observance of lower-level limits ensures the compliance with upper-level limits.

The liquidity risk management system provides for various management tools depending on business environment: those available in a business-as-usual mode and those available in stress conditions. The liquidity management strategy shall be based both on management of assets (accumulation of liquid assets) and management of liabilities (attraction of funds in the amount sufficient to cover the expected demand for liquidity) with due regard to all established liquidity risk limits and containments. The planning of the balance sheet structure shall be carried out so as to ensure the compliance with regulatory requirements in terms of liquidity risk and established liquidity risk limits and containments. Operational management of liquidity risk is performed using procedures for forecasting liquidity risk metrics.

To reduce the risk, measures aimed at raising liquidity may be taken, as well as measures aimed at limitation of active operations, including price and non-price measures (administrative sanctions). The list of measures to reduce liquidity risk, the organization of liquidity risk management process, the functions and powers of the process participants are described in specific regulatory documents of the Bank and the Group members.

Key liquidity risk management methods:

- business planning and preparing the Funding Plan;
- system of limits and liquidity risk containment
- accounting for liquidity risk when pricing products;
- accounting for liquidity risk in the system of internal transfer pricing;
- use of a mechanism for motivating the activities of the units, depending on the objectives of managing liquidity risk;
- assessment of liquidity risk when agreeing terms of new banking products / services / transactions;
- coordination of major transactions in terms of impact on liquidity risk (in particular, the assessment of the impact on mandatory liquidity ratios);
- liquidity buffer management;
- development of the Liquidity Contingency Plan.

Liquidity risk within the Bank and the Group as a whole is managed by the Assets and Liabilities Management Committee of Sberbank. Sberbank Treasury organizes the formation of a management system, organizes and coordinates the process of liquidity risk management in the Bank and the Group, ensures compliance with the established risk appetite and other limits and restrictions in terms of liquidity risk, implements measures to manage physical, structural and regulatory liquidity. The Risks Block develops the target architecture of limits and sets the limits for the liquidity risk metrics; performs regular independent monitoring of compliance with established liquidity limits, validation of liquidity models and escalation of violations of limits to the collegiate management bodies. The Group defines single rules on raising and allocating resources by the Group members and on coordinating the Group members' activities on debt capital markets, and unified principles for raising funds from capital markets are applied for the purposes of the Bank's and Group's liquidity risk management.

Management bodies of the Group's members are responsible for the effective liquidity management and control of liquidity of the institutions concerned, as well as compliance with the limits and restrictions set by the Bank and the requirements of local regulators. Liquidity risk in Group members is assessed, managed and controlled in line with the Group's unified standards taking into account the diversification of requirements to various categories of Group members depending on the scale and nature of performed operations and on whether a Group member is included in the consolidation perimeter under RAS.

2.4.5. Operational Risk.

Operational risk is the risk of the Bank incurring losses as a result of any defects in internal processes, functioning of information systems, unauthorized / illegal actions or errors of employees or due to external events.

The operational risk management system is aimed at preventing such risk or the maximum possible decrease of the threat of potential losses (direct and/or indirect) connected with internal process organization and external factors (events), measurement of operational risk for the calculation of necessary regulatory and economic capital as well as the creation of an adequate system of internal control.

The operational risk management process in the Group includes the following main stages:

- operational risk identification;
- operational risk evaluation;
- analysis of problem areas of processes, development and making a decision on optimizing / changing the processes in order to reduce the level of operational risk;
- operational risk monitoring;
- control and/or reduction of operational risk.

In order to perform the stages mentioned above, the Group has implemented such operational risk management instruments as collection of internal data concerning losses caused by the realization of operational risk incidents, self-assessment of units and scenario analysis for operational risks.

Risk coordinators are appointed in all structural units of the Bank and the Group members from among unit employees, whose functions include, in particular, interaction with operational risk units in terms of identification, estimation, monitoring and control of operational risk. In particular, risk coordinators inform about materialized incidents of operational risk and estimate potential risks during self-assessment.

To monitor operational risk, the Group uses a system of reports for the management and collegial bodies involved in the risk management processes. Operational risk reporting is drawn up on a daily, monthly, and quarterly basis.

Data related to risk assessment and incurred losses help identify risk concentration areas for further development of a set of measures to mitigate the Group's risk level.

Risk reduction activities are being introduced at the Bank. These activities are intended both to change existing processes and technologies for operations and to improve the executive discipline of staff. The Bank regularly monitors measures implementation status and residual risks, both by business units and operational risk units, as well as executives and collegial bodies of the Bank management and Group members. The Bank has developed and approved a new approach to setting key performance indicators (KPIs) for operational risk, established the values of operational risk appetite, including those for business units, values of operational risk loss limits, and established the target level for identifying operational risk events of the first and second lines of defense (by business units and units of the Operational Risk Division). As part of analyzing, controlling and forecasting operational risks, the Bank also develops and monitors key risk indicators.

To prevent and/or decrease losses that arise from materialized operational risk events, the Group has developed and applies such mechanisms and procedures as overall regulation of business processes and procedures; segregation of power; internal control over the compliance with the procedure established for operations and transactions, limit discipline; a complex of measures ensuring information security and business continuity; improvement of audit procedures and control over the quality of automated systems and hardware complex functioning; property and asset insurance; improvement of employees' qualification at all organizational levels, etc.

2.4.6. Legal Risk.

Legal risk arising from the possibility of the Group incurring losses as a result of the Group's and/or its counterparties' violation of conditions of concluded agreements, legal errors made by the Group in the implementation of activities, imperfections of the legal system, counterparty violations of regulatory legal acts, branches of the Group, legal entities, in respect of which the Group exercises control or significant influence, as well as the Group's counterparties, being under the jurisdiction of different states, is considered by the Group to be a component of operational risks.

The legal risk management process in the Group includes the following main stages:

- identification of legal risk;
- evaluation of the legal risk;
- making a decision on risk-related measures and legal risk regulation;
- monitoring and control of the level of legal risk and losses.

To implement these stages, the Group has introduced such legal risk management tools as collecting internal data on losses due to the occurrence of legal risk incidents, developing measures to minimize legal risk, preparation of reporting on legal risks.

While performing statutory activity, the Group strictly follows the requirements of effective laws and by-laws. To manage the legal risk, the following is carried out: monitoring of the lawmaking and changes in laws and by-laws in legal banking system regulation, taxation and financial laws; legal expert examination of compliance of internal regulatory administrative documents and agreements, concluded by the Bank, with effective laws and other regulatory legal acts; regular analysis of the results of review of disputed issues with participation of the Group in judicial authorities; studies of the arbitration practice; minimizing the consequences of legal risk occurrence while protecting the interests of the Bank in courts and when interacting with public authorities.

3.1.3. Information on the Establishment and Development of the Issuing Credit Institution.

The issuing credit institution was established for an indefinite period.

Brief description of the history and development of the issuing credit institution.

Historically, Sberbank is considered to have been established on the date of the Decree issued by Emperor Nicholas I on the creation of savings banks signed on 30 October (12 November) 1841. The Decree read: "As Savings Banks may be of economic and moral use, we order to establish Savings Banks, on the grounds exposed in the Charter, for the first time under Petersburg and Moscow Saving Treasuries."

The first savings bank was opened in Petersburg on 1 March 1842, in the building of the Board of Trustees at 7 Kazanskaya St. The Petersburg Savings Bank operated in this building designed in 1810 by the architect Giacomo Quarenghi right up until 1917. On the day of its opening, the bank was visited by 76 depositors who opened accounts to a sum of 426.5 rubles. The first savings bank customer was Nikolay A. Kristofari, Court Counselor, Assistant to Expedition Director of the Saint Petersburg Loan Treasury, whose 10-ruble deposit started the Russian savings business. He received savings book No. 1.

The Moscow bank opened its doors for customers on 5 April 1842, in the building of the Board of Trustees of Solyanka Foundling Hospital. Up until 1862, it remained the only savings bank in the city that had no branches, in the same way as the one in Petersburg.

In June 1860, the savings banks passed from the jurisdiction of Boards of Trustees and Ministries of Internal Affairs to the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Finances. On 16 October 1862, the Emperor Alexander II approved a new draft for the Savings Banks Charter, under which "The purpose of the savings banks is to encourage poor people and especially the working classes to save a part of their earnings to cover for illnesses, lack of work or generally for a rainy day, providing all means for sure and profitable safekeeping of such savings."

In the 1880s, a period of rampant development of the national savings banks started. The progress was related to the changes in the government policy on savings banks under the influence of foreign experience. Since the mid 1880s, the government also started a significant expansion of the bank network outside the State Bank offices. In 1884, a decision was made to organize banks with all province and district treasuries (outlets of the Ministry of Finances), and also in any other town, suburb, or a large trade and industrial center, "where a great number of working and factory population is concentrated." As a result, while there were 42 outlets functioning under treasuries at the end of 1884, their number reached 206 in the next year, and there were 3,875 of them a decade later. The amount of deposits increased from RUB9.1 m to RUB367.9 m. The growth rate of money deposits in savings institutions was so significant that by the mid 1890s the savings outlets surpassed all other credit institutions, both state and private ones. Savings institutions started to penetrate the remote regions of the country involving different strata of the population in their activities and becoming a reliable accumulator not only for small savings of the poor but also for the income of the middle class. As a result, savings banks had assumed a leading place in the country's credit and banking system by the mid-1890s.

In the last decade of the 19th century, a new era opens up in the history of Russian savings banks connected with the name of Sergey Witte, a prominent Russian public figure of the turn of the 19th-20th centuries, and the Minister of Finance of Russia. He regarded people's savings first of all through the prism of "state enterprise foundation." S. Witte brought to perfection the mechanism of using internal savings in "state interests", and the type of the savings bank he created existed until 1917. The outlets were regarded by the Minister of Finances as "assistance to the government in financial and economic undertakings," first of all, during conversion operations and the issue of railway loans.

The huge increase in savings institutions at the turn of the 1880–1890s heralded the need for a reform of the 1862 Charter that did not satisfy the changed conditions. The new Charter was approved by Nikolai II on 1 June 1895. Article 1 read: "The state savings banks have the purpose of accepting deposits for interest accruals by giving ways of savings accumulation to the population." The government guaranteed the integrity of raised funds, and the outlets were obliged to maintain the confidentiality of deposits. The procedure of savings banks network development was simplified as much as possible: the Minister of Finances could issue an order and open savings institutions under all financial organizations, as well as any state, public or private body.

The savings banks were obliged to charge free funds to a special account in the State Bank, and they received at least 0.5% annual interest (earlier, the State Bank used the resources of savings banks free of charge). The bank operations now included ordinary on-demand deposits and conditional special-purpose deposits (for children until they come of age, for burial, etc.). The credit function of Russian banks was not developed to any noticeable extent. During the whole course of their history up to 1917, they remained "pumps" for the transfer of internal savings to the treasury's disposal. The 1895 Charter established the official status of state savings banks as financial assistance to the government.

During the First World War (1914–1917), the network of saving institutions was expanded as much as possible, and important changes took place in the composition of bank operations. The

Depreciation calculation methods by groups of fixed assets

Under the Accounting Policy of Sberbank, depreciation of fixed assets is calculated on a monthly basis:

- Standards set by Decree of the Council of Ministers of the USSR No.1072 dated 22 October 1990 are used for items accepted for accounting prior to 1 January 2000. In the period ended 1 January 2007, items were depreciated up to their book value minus the balance of the revaluation fund established for such assets. Since 1 January 2007, items accepted for accounting before 1 January 2000 have been depreciated up to their book value according to the standards effective on the date of accepting such items for accounting;

- The linear method is applied for items acquired after 1 January 2000 during their useful lifespan. Items shall be depreciated up to their book value and an annual depreciation deductions shall be calculated based on the initial or current (replacement) value (in case of revaluation) of the fixed asset and a depreciation rate calculated based on the item's useful lifespan;

- for assets accepted for accounting after 1 January 2003 the depreciation rate is set by RF government Decree No. 1, dated 1 January 2002, "On Classification of Fixed Assets Divided into Depreciation Groups", and their useful lifespan is determined under the Accounting Policy of Sberbank for Tax Purposes;

- for assets listed in the Bank's Order 1722-P dated 23 November 2015 the linear method is applied and their depreciation rate is calculated based on their useful lifespan set by this Order;

- for objects in the form of capital investments in leased objects, in a linear manner, based on depreciation rates calculated on the basis of useful lives, defined as the period of time during which the facility is planned to be used by the Bank for economic benefits, but not more than ten years.

Since 1 January 2016 the maximum amount of accrued depreciation of fixed assets has been set equal to their initial or reevaluated value minus their estimated residual value.

An estimated residual value of assets of the motor vehicle category is set as a percentage of their book value as of 1 January 2016 (for vehicles acquired before 1 January 2016) or on the date of their acquiring (for vehicles acquired after 1 January 2016) as follows:

- for company vehicles (regular) - 20%
- for company vehicles of executives class - 35%
- for special cash collection service vehicles - 8%

The residual value of fixed assets of other categories is disregarded as insignificant.

Depreciation for impaired fixed assets is accrued taking into account the decrease in their value for the impairment amount, reflected on bookkeeping accounts, starting from the date following the date they were recognized as impaired until the end of their useful lifespan.

Valuation Methodology:

The cost approach was applied to value the specialized assets.

The sales comparison method is used for assets comparable to those being valued, based on a comparative analysis of assets that were on the market of the respective regions.

The income approach methods, in particular the direct capitalization and discounted cash flow methods, were applied to the value assets for which there are no similar ones at the valuation date.

The revaluation fair value was performed as at 1 January 2020 and reflected in the 2019 financial statements as events after the reporting date (EARD) based on the opinion of an independent valuer/appraiser who has the necessary professional qualifications and experience in valuing assets of this kind. The assessment was done by Ernst and Young – Otsenka i Konsultatsionnyy Uslugi (Ernst and Young – Assessment and Advisory Services).

Economic analysis of financial results of the issuing credit institution based on trends in its performance:

Comparison of results for the nine months of 2020 and the nine months of 2019:

- Net interest income increased by 10.9%, or RUB108.3 billion, due to the growth of lending and the reduced funding cost.
- Net fee and commission income rose by 13.5%, or by RUB46.5 billion, as a result of an increase in settlement operations and customer financial-market transactions. Transactional bank card activity decreased in Q2 2020, which slowed down the income growth in that area. However, it was restored in the third quarter. Bank guarantees and trade finance operations also had a positive impact on fee and commission income growth.

- Expenses on staff, SG&A and amortization increased by 5.2% compared to the nine months of 2019. The expenses' dynamic was positively affected by the bank's continuing business performance improvement program launched in response to the pandemic, as well as by a comparison basis equalization after the pay raise in July 2019.
- Expenses on loan provisions amounted to RUB396.8 billion compared to RUB62.0 billion a year earlier. The growth was due to a macroeconomic shock caused by the pandemic.
- Net profit for the nine months of 2020 stood at RUB559.4 billion as compared to RUB665.4 billion a year earlier. The profit dynamic was a result of a decline in customers' business activity, unprecedented volumes of restructuring and anti-crisis financing, and increased allocations to reserves.

Economic analysis of the issuing credit institution's liquidity, solvency, and capital adequacy to fulfill its short-term obligations and to cover its current operating expenses based on the economic analysis of trends in the given indicators and description of factors which, in the opinion of the issuer's management bodies, most critically affect its liquidity and solvency:

Between 01/10/2019 and 01/10/2020, the total amount of Sberbank's assets increased by RUB4,059 billion and was RUB32,124 billion at the end of Q3 2020 (compared to RUB28,064 billion as at 01/10/2019).

The main factors that determined the growth trends in assets were:

- increased amount of net loans receivable (by RUB2,273 billion)
- growth of investments in securities and other financial assets (by RUB1,853 billion)

The amount of Sberbank's liabilities between 01/10/2019 and 01/10/2020 increased by RUB3,281 billion mainly due to the increase in the amount of funds from customers that are not credit institutions (by RUB2,357 billion, including due to individuals by RUB1,856 billion).

As part of liquidity risk management, the Bank has retained a sufficient amount of liquidity reserves, including through active work on maintaining the collateral in accordance with the Bank of Russia Ordinance No. 4801-Y (4801-U) "On the Form and Conditions for Refinancing Credit Institutions on the Security" dated 22 May 2018.

The decreased N2 and N3 were due to the reduced term structure of funds from customers.

4.5. Information on the policy applied and costs incurred by the issuing credit institution in the sphere of scientific and technical development, licenses and patents, new research and developments.

In 2019, a number of key activities were undertaken in the area of Sberbank technological transformation:

- a new technology platform was put into commercial operation and the migration of the bank's key automated systems onto it started;;
- Sberbank's single ecosystem architecture was created, its integrating elements are now being rolled out;
- the proprietary cloud platform was launched that fundamentally change the infrastructure usage experience.

Sberbank's Unified Front-End System (UFES) was created to standardize client services across all channels: bank branches, the mobile app, web browser, phone banking, ATMs, POS terminals. It is built on the omnichannel principle, where a transaction can be initiated in one channel and continued in another channel, greatly improving the convenience of services for bank customers. The UFES enables a large-scale, parallel and independent business functionality that can be launched and replicated as it becomes ready, facilitating productivity growth as well as customer service reliability and safety.

⁶ The disclosure for Q3 2020 will be carried out in accordance with the Bank of Russia Ordinance No. 4482-Y (4482-U), dated 7 August 2017, "On the Form and Procedure for a Credit Institution (Parent Credit Institution of a Banking Group) to Disclose Information on Risks Assumed, Risk Assessment Procedures and Risk and Capital Management Procedures".

In order to provide omnichannel back-office solutions and API services to sign up partners, the Business Development Support Platform (BDSP) is being deployed, which provides an opportunity to dramatically change the current approach to doing business. The BDSP is deployed in the cloud infrastructure, helping ensure high levels of reliability and availability. Clients' transaction history, up-to-date contracts and personalized offers are all be available online. The BDSP helps cut the time it takes to implement new features to a single day and reduce the cost of maintaining Sberbank's IT systems, thereby increasing productivity and enabling linear scalability in real time. The BDSP's reliability was confirmed at 99.99%, while the level of its maturity made it possible to start replicating factories and services at a commercial scale.

Following 2019, the Single Retail Client Profile had been introduced into all key service channels, including Sberbank branches, the web and the mobile app, self-service terminals and the Contact Center. 21 services provided by our subsidiaries and ecosystem partners were connected to the Single Client Profile via Sberbank ID.

Services and products whose replication was completed in 2019 include cross-border transfers, individuals' transfers, acquiring settlements, salary projects, online contracts, contract settlements, deposits and conversion transactions of corporate customers, and item-by-item recording of corporate customers' loan collateral insurance policies. Replication of loro account settlements has been launched.

The Synapse integration platform was developed and test-launched in 2019 on the basis of a totally new technology stack. This is the first service mesh technology-based enterprise-level solution that enables Sberbank to switch from vendors to open-source technology. The new platform has taken productivity to a whole new level, enabling Sberbank's banking and ecosystem services to exchange millions of events in real time.

The Data Factory was created to attain a competitive time to market for new products, accelerate decision making and cut data mining and data owning costs. The program development takes into account the current trends in corporate data warehouse and analytical platform building. The aim is to build an integrated corporate analytical data processing platform. The data factory was reformatted in 2019. In particular, a model of co-responsibility between business and IT was implemented; 3,300 data quality checks and over 1,000 quality standard compliance checks were conducted. Reliability of the key Corporate Analytical Platform components was improved to 99.99%.

Sberbank launched its proprietary cloud, thereby totally changing the experience of infrastructure delivery and usage. Developer teams can order the necessary infrastructure products via the portal, the cycle time of orders and infrastructure delivery was cut to a few minutes thus accelerating time to market for products. In 2019, an important result was achieved – more than 80% of new equipment is delivered on-the-fly via the portal, and the cloud already accounts for a significant share of the entire Data Centers infrastructure. By enhancing the recycling of infrastructure, the Bank has improved its efficiency. Resources are delivered upon request depending on load levels and peaks. Internal tariffing has been introduced and cost accounting is based on the actual usage of resources. The level of infrastructure automation has increased, and the reliability and efficiency of releases is now guaranteed. Server operating systems get updated automatically in regular cycles, which helps maintain a high level of security.

Sberbank is actively leveraging AI technology and implementing AI processes, relying on its workforce of nearly one thousand data scientists. The effect from implementing AI initiatives at Sberbank in 2019 was RUB42 bn in cost savings. AI is now integrated into Sberbank's platform at all levels. Eight platforms were already launched commercially, including NLP, Speech Analytics, biometrics, etc.

In Q3 2020, the Bank's total expenses to achieve these objectives amounted to RUB21.6 billion.

4.6. Analysis of development trends in the primary activities of the issuing credit institution

Major trends in the banking sector of the economy for the last completed reporting year and for the corresponding reporting period consisting of 9 months of the current year, and the main factors affecting the state of the banking sector:

Summary for 2019:

In 2019, the number of existing credit institutions (credit institutions entitled to perform bank transactions) decreased from 484 (as of 1 January 2019) to 442 (as of 1 January 2020).

The total banking industry assets in 2019 grew only 2.7% (1.2% growth in the 4th quarter of 2019), which was partly the result of foreign currency translation losses. Banks' assets increased 10.4% in 2018.

Over the 12 months of 2019, the growth rate of the loan portfolio of the banking industry was almost half the growth rate in 2018: 7.1% and 15.0%, respectively. The trend was positive for all types of loans. While the amount of corporate loans increased by 2.6% in 2019 (compared to a 12.4% increase in the same period of 2018), the amount of retail loans increased by 18.5%, which was slightly worse than the growth by 22.4% a year earlier. In the 4th quarter of 2019 the trend for loans was similar: loans to individuals increased by 3.2%, and loans to enterprises – by 1.1%.

The credit risk situation in the banking industry slightly worsened because of a number of large banks undergoing resolution. Overdue loans as of 1 January 2020 amounted to 6.2% (vs. 5.5% as of 1 January 2019 and 6.6% as of 1 October 2019). The amount of 'bad debt' of individuals decreased from 5.1% to 4.3% (4.7% at 1 October 2019), and that of businesses increased 1.4 p.p. to 7.1% (5.7% at the beginning of the year and 7.4% at 1 October 2019). The total amount of overdue loans (to individuals and businesses) increased by 20.1% in 2019 after the mere 3.0% growth in 2018.

Bank provisions in 2019 went down 1.6% (9.0% growth in 2018). Loan provisions in 2019 increased 5.2% versus the 1.5% growth a year earlier. The loan provisions to loan portfolio ratio decreased from 8.68% (as of 1 January 2019) to 8.53% (as of 1 January 2020).

From January to December 2019, investments in securities made by banks decreased by 8.3%, versus their 6.4% increase in the same period the previous year.

Legal entity funds, including budget funds attracted by banks, increased by 4.8% in 2019 (in September-December 2019 they decreased 2.9%). In the same period of 2018 this liabilities item saw an 18.0% raise. The budget funds over this period almost did not change (6.8% growth) versus the 57.9% increase a year earlier. Debts to the Bank of Russia decreased 6.0% versus the 29.3% growth in 2018.

During the period under review, retail deposits increased by 7.3%. Over the same period of the previous year, the amount of deposits increased by 9.5%. At the same time, market growth was 4.1% in the 4th quarter of 2019.

In 2019, the balance sheet profits of the banking industry exceeded RUB 2 tn and amounted to RUB 2,036.8 bn, which was 51.5% more than in the same period of the previous year – RUB 1,345 bn. A growth in profit in the 4th quarter of 2019 amounted to RUB 536 bn. Sixty-nine banks out of the 442 currently operating credit institutions (or 15.6% of their total amount) reported loss in 2019. As of 1 January 2019, 20.7% of credit institutions were unprofitable.

Summary for the nine months of 2020:

In January-September 2020, the number of operating credit institutions (credit institutions entitled to perform bank transactions) went from 442 (as at 1 January 2020) down to 417 (as at 1 October 2020).

The assets of banking industry increased by 14.0%, while last year they added a mere 1.5% over the same period. The growth is largely due to the ruble devaluation triggered by the pandemic-related economic slowdown and the decline in oil prices.

The loan portfolio of the banking industry grew by 13.2%, which is higher than in 2019 (5.2%), but it was also largely caused by the positive foreign currency revaluation. Corporate loans rose by 14.7% (vs. 1.5% a year earlier). Retail loans increased by 10.1%, which is almost 1,5 times lower than last year's growth rate of 14.8%.

Credit risks in the banking industry remain fairly stable despite a significant deterioration of the economic situation. The amount of overdue loans as of October 1, 2020 was 6.4%, having slightly increased compared to the beginning of the year (6.2%) Specifically, there was an increase in the level of arrears on the corporate loan portfolio, from 7.1% to 7.3%, while the retail loan portfolio quality deteriorated from 4.3% to 4.7%. The overall volume of overdue loans in the industry increased by 17.5%.

Provisions of banks grew by 14.4% in January-September 2020, which is considerably higher than the growth of provisions a year ago (2.3%). That growth was in line with the growth in the loan portfolio, although it did not yet fully reflect the increased level of lending risks during the pandemic.

During the nine month of 2020, the banks' investments in securities grew by 30.8%,

The risk-management process involves each employee of the Bank. Decisions on performing any transaction are made only after comprehensive analysis of risks arising in the course of such a transaction. The Bank has regulatory documents in place to govern the procedure of performing any and all transactions exposed to risks.

The Bank has no conflict of interests: at the organizational structure level, the units and employees entrusted with duties for performing transactions exposed to risks, accounting for such transactions, risk management and control are separated.

Management of the Bank and its collective bodies regularly receive information on the level of risks accepted by the Group and on violations of established risk management procedures, limits, and restrictions.

The internal control system of the Bank allows the effective monitoring of functioning of the risk management system.

A collective responsibility is established for the actions involving the acceptance of risks ("Three Lines of Defense").

The risk management process of the Bank is based on the use of modern information technology that allows identification, analysis, assessment, management, and control of risks.

The Bank assesses the adequacy of available capital (i.e., internal capital to cover the accepted and potential risks). Internal capital-adequacy assessment procedures also include capital planning procedures based on the established development strategy, business growth benchmarks, and results of comprehensive current assessment of the aforementioned risks, stress-testing of the Bank's and Group's stability to internal and external risk factors. The Bank highlights priority directions of capital development and distribution using the analysis of risk-adjusted efficiency indices for standalone business units and lines of business.

The Bank/Group has in place a multilevel system of limits and restrictions to ensure an acceptable level of risk.

The Group ensures unified approaches to identification, assessment, and management of risks.

The Bank is constantly upgrading all risk-management elements, including information systems, procedures and methods, with regard to strategic objectives, environment changes, and innovations in global risk-management practices.

7.4. Information on the accounting policy of the issuing credit institution.

Main provisions of the accounting policy of the issuing credit institution defined independently by the issuing credit institution in accordance with the legislation of the Russian Federation on accounting and approved by an order or directive of the person responsible for the organization and the state of the accounting in the issuing credit institution:

No changes were introduced into Sberbank's Accounting Policy in the 3rd quarter of 2020 (see the Accounting Policy in Appendix 3 to the quarterly report).

In connection with the coming into force of Bank of Russia Regulation No. 695-P 'On the Procedure for Recognizing in Bookkeeping Accounts the Lease Agreements by Credit Institutions' dated 12/11/2018 with regard to application of IFRS 16 "Leases", the Accounting Policy of Sberbank was amended as follows for accounting purposes in 2020:

- The principles of recognition and measurement of lease transactions have been established.
- All lease agreements provide for the lessee's right to use the asset from the date the lease agreement becomes effective, as well as for receiving funds if lease payments are performed during a period of time.
- Lessees shall recognize: (a) assets and liabilities for all lease agreements valid for more than 12 months, except where the lease costs of an item are insignificant; and (b) depreciation of leased assets separately from interest on lease liabilities in the profit and loss statement.
- The requirements for lease accounting remain the same for lessors. Therefore, lessors continue to classify lease agreements as operating or financial lease and recognize them respectively in statements.

The Accounting Policy of Sberbank defines the general accounting methodology in accordance with Federal Law No. 402-ФЗ (402-FZ), dated 6 December 2011, "On Accounting" for ensuring the preparation of accurate information on the Bank's performance.

According to Article 57 of Federal Law No. 86-ФЗ (86-FZ), dated 10 July 2002, "On the Central Bank of the Russian Federation (the Bank of Russia)", the Bank of Russia establishes the rules of banking operations, accounting and reporting, execution and submission of accounting (financial) and statistical reports, and other information required by federal laws, which are mandatory for credit institutions.

In its activities, Sberbank is guided by Federal Law No. 395-1, dated 2 December 1990, "On Banks and Banking Activities" with all further amendments and additions (hereinafter referred to as the "the Federal Law On Banks and Banking Activities"), Federal Law No. 402-ФЗ (402-FZ), dated 6 December 2011, "On Accounting", other laws and regulatory acts effective within the Russian Federation, Bank of Russia Ordinance, the Charter of the Bank, and the resolutions adopted by the Executive Board of the Bank.

The accounting policy of Sberbank shall be based on Bank of Russia Regulation No. 579-II (579-P), dated 27 February 2017, "On the Chart of Accounts for Bookkeeping for Credit Institutions and its Application Procedure" (hereinafter referred to as the "Bank of Russia Regulation No. 579-II (579-P)"), other documents of the Bank of Russia regulating the accounting and reporting, accounting provisions (standards) ensuring the uniform recording of banking operations in the balance sheet accounts.

The Accounting Policy of Sberbank is applied consistently year after year.

Any changes in the accounting policy shall be made under the following conditions:

- Changes in the requirements established by laws of the Russian Federation on accounting, federal and (or) industry standards;
- Development or selection of a new method of accounting, the application of which results in better quality of information about the item of accounting information;
- Substantial change in the business environment of the economic entity.

To ensure the comparability of the accounting (financial) statements for a number of years, the change in accounting policy shall be made from the beginning of the reporting year, unless otherwise determined by the cause of such change.

When maintaining accounting, the following principles and qualitative characteristics must be observed:

- going concern: The Bank will continuously carry out its activities in the future and it has no intentions and need for liquidation, a significant reduction in activity or performance of operations on unfavorable terms;
- Recognition of income and expenses on the accrual basis: the financial results of operations (income and expenses) are reflected in the accounting records on the fact of their commission, and not on the receipt or payment of cash (their equivalents), while incomes and expenses are reflected in the accounting accounting in the period to which they relate;
- consistency of accounting rules: The bank should be guided by the same accounting rules, except for cases of significant changes in its activities or changes in the legislation of the Russian Federation, which relate to the activities of the Bank; otherwise, the comparability of the data for the reporting period and the period preceding it should be ensured;
- caution: assets and liabilities, income and expenses should be valued and accounted for reasonably, with sufficient care, so as not to transfer existing risks that potentially threaten the financial situation of the Bank for the following periods. At the same time, the Bank's accounting policy should provide greater readiness to recognize expenses and liabilities in accounting than possible revenues and assets, preventing the creation of hidden reserves (intentional understatement of assets or revenues and deliberate overstating of liabilities or expenses);

- the timeliness of recording transactions: transactions are reflected in the accounting records on the day they are committed, unless otherwise provided by regulatory acts of the Bank of Russia;
- separate recording of assets and liabilities: accounts of assets and liabilities are assessed separately and are reflected in their detailed form;
- continuity of the opening balance: balances in balance sheet and off-balance accounts at the beginning of the current reporting period should correspond to balances at the end of the previous period;
- substance over form concept: transactions are recorded in accordance with their economic substance, and not with their legal form;
- openness: reports must reliably reflect the operations of the credit institution, be understandable to the informed user and devoid of ambiguity in reflecting the position of the credit institution.
